Form of Art:

The simplicity of art and freedom of expression are the concept for the museum. Simple lines, curves and spheres construct the form of the museum and lead the visitor to each of the museum's programs. Our understanding of art and expression begin with these very basic lines and shapes. This is why it is especially relevant to incorporate these but also focuses on the education and participation of the public. The proposed project intends to create usable and accessible public space and to activate the waterfront by doing so. It not only becomes a place that people come to see art, but also becomes a social hub for all people. In addition, this proposal connects the waterfront to the park across the road on the west side, inviting the public from all sides.
